COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND APPLIED SCIENCE CAREER OPPORTUNITY

ASSISTANT LECTURER POSITION IN ARCHITECTURAL ENGINEERING

The University of Wyoming's Department of Civil and Architectural Engineering invites applications for an Assistant Lecturer position in Architectural Engineering with an emphasis on Architecture.

Applicants are sought with professional experience and teaching interests in Architectural Design and Building Information Modeling. Specialization in an area such as energy modeling or construction management is welcome. The successful candidate is expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Architecture, advise students, and pursue research or creative endeavors. Teaching excellence is the principal emphasis. The Assistant Lecturer position, although not a tenure-track position, is a permanent benefitted position with an annual reappointment process and potential for promotion after six years.

UW's Architectural Engineering Program is one of seventeen such ABET-accredited programs in the nation, and recipient of a 2008 AIA award for Building Information Modeling. It has approximately 200 undergraduate students and a graduate program being developed. The University of Wyoming is a thriving research university located in Laramie, Wyoming (pop. 28,000), 130 miles northwest of Denver. Laramie is a picturesque and friendly town offering a reasonable cost of living and easy access to outdoor activities in the Rocky Mountain region. Additional information on the Department, College, and Laramie is available at: <http://www.eng.uwyo.edu/civil>, <http://www.eng.uwyo.edu/>, <http://www.uwyo.edu>, and <http://www.laramie.org>.
